From Cairo to the Cape.

A most interesting piece of information comes from Europe to the effect that Cecil Rhodes is about to visit Berlin for the purpose of consuiting with the German operor in regard to the long-standing project for an African reliroad from Cairo to the Cape. It is stated that Rhodes hopes to secure William's adherence to the plan, which has been the goal of his later years. The reason for consulting with Germany in reference to an enterprise which has always borne the stamp of British initiative is that the line of the projected read runs through the German east African territory. The Kitchener expedition in large measure cleared away some of the most obtreperous obstacles in the path of this great improvement. The pacification of the Sudan was an essential preliminary to the undertaking, for it was obviously risky to attempt to run a railroad through register from the car, they could set it

Hence it is essential that the kaiser should be approached for

It becomes important to know whether Rhodes is dealing for the British govern ment in this mission. The project is so vast that it has always been considered as necessary that it be undertaken as a government enterprise. The prospect of commercial returns is not yet so secure that it is regarded as an immediately satisfac tory investment. The road's chief value will long be as a tie between the extremes of the British African holdings, Cape Colony and Egypt. Later it is inevitable that with the opening up of the country will come trade and travel, which will make the Phodes line one of the most notable speculations in modern railroading.

Etab's Vacant Seat in the Seaste. After 161 futile ballots for the United States senatorship, the state legislature of I tah bas adjourned without day. This cuts ready firmly established by a democratic majority, no appointment by the governor to fill the vacancy thus created can be recognized. It is a trite saying that some classes of criminals exercise more creative eleverness and skill on dishenest projects than would suffice to bring them in handsome incomes if applied to legitimate enterprises. This is especially true of the counterfeiter, who, with infinite pains and the most exact and precise labor, will complete after many weeks of work a single pen and ink bill of comparatively small denomination. Or even the fraudu lent engraver who spends many days upon a plate which can at best yield him only a few hundred dollars of profit before the trick is detected and the market for the illegal currency is destroyed. The kink in the human brain which at times develops to attract men to dishonest paths is beyond logical accounting. There must have been such a kink in the heads of two Philadel-

Big Profits From Advertising.

A business man of Philadelphia said the other day that Mr. Wanamaker's profits from his Philadelphia store lest year were over $1,750,000, and that those from his New York establishment will run close to that figure. The Saturday before Christmas the receipts in New York were even greater. ngure. The Saturday before Christians the receipts in New York were even greater than those in Philadelphia, and exceeded $500,000. The New York store has paid a $500.000. The New York store has paid a profit from the very day it was opened, although two firms which occupied the establishment since A. T. Stewart's death have failed. The reason of Mr. Wanamaker's great success both in New York and Philadelphia is his skillful and extensive advertising. It has been his rule to confine his advertising to newspapers and confine his advertising to newspapers and magazines, on which he has spent annually more than $300,000 in Philadelphia. The advertising bills of his New York establishment exceeded even that sum last year.

From the Pittsburg Dispatch. Italy seems to have overlooked one esser that seems to have overlooked one essential preliminary to make her claim on Chinese territory as regular and legitimate as that of Germany. She omitted to get a couple of missionaries killed, or at least a report that they were killed. That essential report that they were kined. That essential basis for land acquisition having been over-looked, it appears that her claim is considered to compare unfavorably with the orderly and regular mode of procedure adopted by Germany. The Last Straw.

Spring Opening of Paris and London Millinery.

We are exhibiting models designed by the leading Paris modistes-Camille Roger, Esther Meyer, Mme. Pouyanne, Marescot Soeurs, Virot, Lentheric, Mon. Julian, Mme. Feurley, Heitz-Boyer, Susanne Platon.

Besides these Imported Hats there are the productions of our own designers and millinery force. It is with no apology that we show these beside the masterpieces of the world's millinery masters.

London's latest and eleverest ideas are here in English Round Hats, Walking Hats, Turbans and styles designed especially for driving, horseback and bicycle riding, tennis, golf and general outdoor wear. A charming collection of Children's and Misses' Millinery is one of the principal features of the exhibit.

Also Mourning Millinery from Mangin-Maurice, the leading Paris designer in this line. Paris Novelties in Neckfixings and a collection of most elegant Millinery Novelties in exclusive effects will prove especially interesting.

Everybody is welcome to look.
